

2 ways travel insurance is made for couples

A relaxing massage in a Costa Rican rainforest. Snuggling up under the stars in the Finnish wilderness. Travelling with someone you love is one of the most enjoyable ways to experience the world. Following are a couple of points licensed travel insurance advisors can emphasize to help their clients look out for each other during their travels.

#1 - Valuable emergency protection is available for two adults travelling together on one policy. For example, a multi-trip plan can offer couples an easy and convenient way to travel safely together. Because coverage applies to an unlimited number of trips within a policy year, they can enjoy travelling together over and over again during that time.

#2 - A closer look at the wording in travel insurance policies may reveal that many travel protection benefits apply to a travelling companion in addition to the primary traveller named on the policy. For example if one or the other gets sick or injured, benefits can help cover expenses the other traveller incurs such as meals and commercial accommodations, return transportation, and more.

Full details on these and other benefits are available in each policy.

This article is an excerpt from News You Can Use, the electronic newsletter published monthly for all Allianz Global Assistance Partners and travel insurance advisors. For education and illustration purposes only. Every situation is different, as are travel insurance plans and premiums. Claims are assessed on a case-by-case basis. Travel insurance is subject to eligibility, limitations and exclusions. Travel insurance does not cover everything. For full details and definitions, please refer to the policy and/or the Sales Guide. Travel insurance is underwritten by CUMIS General Insurance Company, a member of The Co-operators group of companies and administered by Allianz Global Assistance, which is a registered business name of AZGA Service Canada Inc. and AZGA Insurance Agency Canada Ltd.